Bullion

Gold prices rose helped by a weaker dollar and as signs of cooling U.S. inflation raised bets on smaller rate hikes by the U.S. Federal Reserve. Philadelphia Fed President Patrick Harker and Dallas Fed President Lorie Logan both backed a slower pace of tightening.

Energy

Crude oil gains as an expected rise in Chinese demand and further restrictions on Russian exports suggested market supply will remain tight. Natural gas dropped on forecasts for warmer weather and less heating demand in late January than previously expected.

Base Metal

Copper gains underpinned by evidence of low supply and expectations of increasing demand. Stronger-than-anticipated growth in China during the fourth quarter added to projections of higher industrial demand.
